Trip Report
2004 Washington, D. C. Briefing Meetings
March 10 through March 16, 2004
Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program
And
San Juan River Basin Recovery Implementation Program

Prepared by John Shields, Chairman, Management Committee
Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program

Disclaimer: This trip report has been prepared based on notes and recollections made during the course of the 2004 visits. Opinions expressed are solely those of the author and do not constitute those of the programs’ participants or of the Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program or the San Juan River Basin Recovery Implementation Program.

Synopsis and Purpose: From March 10th through March 16th, representatives of the non-federal participants in the Upper Colorado Endangered Fish Recovery Program and the San Juan River Basin Recovery Implementation Programs1 met with staff of the Congressional delegations for the States of Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming, and with Congressional committee staff for the authorizing and appropriations committees having jurisdiction over the Bureau of Reclamation and Fish and Wildlife Service to brief them on the status of the two endangered fish recovery programs and to seek their support for Program funding included in the President’s proposed fiscal year 2005 budget. In addition, briefing meetings were held with select Administration officials and several nongovernmental entities. During each of the meetings those representing the two recovery programs addressed three matters:

1. Status of the Upper Colorado Endangered Fish Recovery Program and the San Juan River Basin Recovery Implementation Program, the programs’ accomplishments with special emphasis on accomplishments during the year that has passed since last year’s visits in March 2003.

2. Fiscal Year 2005 funding needs – including those funding needs of the Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program and San Juan River Basin Recovery Implementation Program for which funding line-items were included in the President’s Fiscal Year 2005 recommended budgets for the USFWS and the Bureau of Reclamation – and the $691,000 for “Colorado River Fish” USFWS “recovery” funding that had been zeroed out of the Department of Interior’s budget request by the Office of Management and Budget and thus is NOT in the President’s budget.

3. Our progress in implementing the provisions of Public Law 106-392, as amended by P.L. 107-375, authorizing cost sharing for the remaining capital construction projects for the two recovery programs and providing a stabilized source of annual “base” funding, and to report on the status of the States’ cost-sharing being contributed pursuant to this law.

At each meeting with Congressional Delegation staff members, our group representing the two recovery programs made an identical request – we asked the staff member to request that his or her boss affirm their support by signing onto joint-delegation letters addressed to the House and Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development and the Subcommittee on Interior and Related Agencies (expressing support and urging the appropriation of specific Bureau of Reclamation and USFWS funding amounts for these two recovery programs). Our group recognized the importance of past funding support from the Congress as being a key element of the progress that these two programs are making and explained the continuing need for funding and the uses and benefits being obtained with Program funding. The four individual letters were circulated among the four States’ Congressional and Senate delegation members. A key tool in making that request was our presentation to the staff member of copies of funding support letters submitted to each of the appropriations subcommittees by Governors Owens, Leavitt, Richardson and Freudenthal were provided at each meeting. It is particularly important to making our case asking Members of Congress to sign on to the joint delegation

1 Program participants represented at most of the briefing meetings were the four involved States of Colorado, Utah, Wyoming and New Mexico, water users and environmental groups. A Fish and Wildlife Service employee participated in some of the briefings for the sole purpose of answering technical questions concerning the fishes’ life history, habitat needs, the species’ recovery goals, Program accomplishments and anticipated activities.
letters that we have letters from each of the Governors (this was the second year we had letters from all four). In addition, a listing of the letters of support that have submitted by municipalities and water user organizations was distributed at each of the meetings.

We were more successful than last year - on the joint House delegation letters we obtained the signatures of 13 of 14 of the U.S. Representatives from Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming (Rep. Hefley again declined). On the Senate side, four of the eight Senators (Bennett, Hatch, Bingaman and Allard) signed the two funding support letters (Senator Domenici and Senator Campbell have a standing policy of not signing appropriation support letters as they are on the Appropriations Committee but we were assured of their assistance and support). We received a number of compliments for our efforts – including the Program’s successes, the quality of the briefing materials and the presentations made, the approaches we are using and our repeated visits to these offices each year. In particular, we noted that none of the Congressional Delegation offices “blinked” when we asked them to sign onto the letters addressed to the Senate and House Interior Appropriations Subcommittee even though the letters request $691,000 of USFWS “recovery” funding for the Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program that is not in the President’s FY2005 budget.

We are most appreciative of the efforts of those staff members who take on the task of circulating our joint delegation letters for us each year. The letter circulation process, accomplished by Trevor Kolego of Congress Chris Cannon’s staff and Luke Johnson and Veronica Wissel of Senator Bennett’s office, went very smoothly and was accomplished, we believe, in record time.

The Congressional Staff Appreciation Luncheon held at Tortilla Coast Restaurant on Friday, March 14th was our second effort at holding this event and was quite successful. This event gives us the opportunity to “give back” something when we are making our annual request to our Congressional delegations; provides additional good will and facilitates the development of relationships with those with whom we meet; and allows us to re able to provide a most interesting and informative presentation on nonnative fish removal efforts within the Upper Colorado River Basin. A thank you is extended to Tom Nesler, Aquatic Biologist, Colorado Division of Wildlife, for doing a very good job with both the PowerPoint presentation and his spoken remarks.

Copies of the briefing booklet and its enclosures have been widely distributed among Program participants – we anticipate that it will also be available for downloading from the Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program's Web page (http://www.r6.fws.gov/crrrip/doc/dc/Highlights03-04.pdf). The executed joint delegation funding support letters signed by the members of the Congressional delegations of the States of Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming, along with the letters of support submitted by Governors Owen, Leavitt, Richardson and Freudenthal are attached to this report.

In summary, the trip went better than we anticipated it would and we believe all of the objectives of the trip were accomplished. A list of those who participated in the meetings/briefings is provided below. Not all participants were in Washington, D.C. during the entire period of the trip nor did all participate in each meeting, nonetheless the roster provides a listing of all who participated in one or more meetings.

Trip Participants:

The group representing the two recovery programs consisted of:

- John Shields – Wyoming State Engineer’s Office and Chairman, Management Committee
- Darin Bird, Utah Department of Natural Resources
- Robert King – Utah Division of Water Resources
- Tom Blickensderfer – Colorado Department of Natural Resources
- Tom Nesler – Colorado Division of Wildlife
- Joel Harris – Governor Owens’ Washington DC Office
- Randy Kirkpatrick – San Juan Water Commission
- Tom Pitts – Upper Colorado River Basin and San Juan River Basin Water Users’ Representative
- Tom Iseman – The Nature Conservancy
- Robert Muth – USFWS – Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program Director
Synopsis of Meetings and Contacts:

The following provides a chronological listing of each meeting held and of additional contacts made. The following notes specific requests, points of discussion or other information worthy of note for future reference, including necessary follow-up that should and will occur.

Conclusions and Recommendations:

Our group representing the two recovery programs again confirmed the vital importance of annually visiting Congressional Committee and Congressional delegation members and/or their staffs to keep the Programs’ needs and ongoing progress in mind. Staff turnover occurs from year to year. Face-to-face meetings continue to have no substitute. The participation of each of the non-federal participants in these briefings is quite important (we need CREDA and the New Mexico Interstate Stream Commission to participate next year). The weekend break during the middle of the trip is a necessity based on the views of those who actually participate; so as to be ready to go at it again “fresh” on Monday morning and to give our efforts the requisite flexibility to reschedule meetings (at least once each year), and to develop contingencies to deal with the unexpected and unanticipated that are always present.

There are five Assistant Secretaries within the Department of the Interior - for many years we have only been attempting to meet with the Asst. Secretaries for Water and Science and Fish, Wildlife and Parks. It became clear when the President’s budget for FY 2005 was released that we needed to go meet with the folks in the Policy, Management and Budget shop within the DOI. Having done so this year, we recommend that we continue to schedule meetings with PMB staff each year. We probably erred in thinking that Water and Science and Fish, Wildlife and Parks would “carry the day” with the sister shop for us. In terms of strategically ensuring funding in future fiscal years – a subject we discussed with Greg Schildwachter – we need to meet with PMB’s top officials each year to ensure that we remain “in sight and in mind.” We should be more diligent and aggressive in seeking out the opportunities that are there for developing/submitting questions for appropriations subcommittee hearings where Administration officials responsible for requesting appropriations for our Program will be testifying.

We need to ask our Congressional Delegation members in late May to sign onto joint delegation letters addressed to the Secretary of the Interior reminding the Secretary of her commitment to the Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program as embodied in the Extension of the Cooperative Agreement and requesting that the “recovery” funding for USFWS participation in the Program be included in the President’s Fiscal Year 2006 budget. This suggestion by a House appropriations subcommittee staff member in response to our question of what can/should we do to help assure future fiscal year funding was broached at each succeeding meeting with Congressional Delegation staff and all seemed willing to do so. We have since discussed this with others having experience in this arena and they confirm the wisdom of sending such a letter – one colleague has deemed it “critical” that we do so. The letter should be drafted in the very near future and we should start the process of requesting each Congressional office representing Colorado, Utah and Wyoming to sign the letter. A cover letter should also be prepared that establishes the need for the joint letter and its anticipated effect and the benefits to each office of sending same (chiefly, that we won’t be seeking their support for restoring funding (read “write-in”) to a prior fiscal year’s level).

Sending the briefing materials via e-mail (briefing book as an Acrobat file and backgrounder as a Word file) in advance of meetings is useful and will be continued. This is a meaningful courtesy for the very busy people with whom we meet and shortens the time required to explain our Programs’ objectives and operations – making for better meetings with more informed staff members, and helps our group stay on the established trip itinerary schedule. Sending our materials in advance paid BIG dividends this year in that the timing and sending of Rep. Rahall’s March 2nd letter to House Interior Approps. Subcommittee Chairman Taylor (faxed to the USFWS Regional Office on March 12th) was in part prompted by our e-mailed request for March 12th meetings with the Subcommittees’ staff and discussion of the budgetary dilemma in the e-mail and attachments sent to the Resources Subcommittee offices on February 26th. We were able to hand out copies of Rep. Rahall’s letter (and amplify its message) at each of the March 15-16th meetings.
Speaking of the schedule, it appears that the time estimations while on the House side are about right, but we need to schedule the Senate side meetings and especially those off of the Hill a bit farther apart. Ideally, we would be able to set more consecutive meetings (in a row) within the Main Interior Building, but the scheduling difficulty is compounded in that we are trying to get four or five or more folks to each of those meetings at MIB, whereas on the Hill or elsewhere we are typically meeting with only one or two people.

The attendance at the Congressional Staff Appreciation Luncheon was good; however, we had heard from more folks that they planned to attend than actually made it to the Tortilla Coast (we had 20 people including those in our briefing group in attendance and the room capacity is 30). The Powerpoint presentation made by Tom Nesler was excellent (thanks, Tom, for being an important part of the group!). An invitation document – sent out in advance of the luncheon or distributed at the Delegation staff meetings would be a nice touch in future years. We recommend that we continue with holding the luncheon – if there is another venue (don’t know of one but we will be looking – the Thai Restaurant may have a back room) as close by it might be worthwhile to try it so as to avoid the “same-old” year after year – but folks seem to like both the food and the atmosphere at the TC.

We should make the effort to meet with staff of the National Governors Association every year. The meeting demonstrated that NGA was not really aware of our Program even though they have marshaled considerable attention on ESA issues in the past year. Getting in to see Congressional staff members from other states who may be in a position to assist us or whom we feel we would like them to know more about our efforts (such as Burns’ staff, Taylor’s staff, Otter’s staff) is problematic – they simply don’t recognize us as a constituent to whom the favor of returning a phone call is a really high priority. It is recommended that we enlist the assistance of one of the regional or national groups such as NGA, WGA or the IAFWA – or make direct use of USFWS and/or USBR Congressional Liaison staff to help us get those meetings set – if we want to try to hold them in the future. We as the Management Committee should assess this matter further – as we are putting out far more effort to try to get these meetings that don’t ever come off set then what our returns are.

It has been suggested that our briefing booklet has grown too long and too elaborate and should be updated for next year’s efforts. We are routinely told (Bruce Moore of the USBR and Shelly Randel being two who come to mind) that we do about the best job on our briefing material of anyone who comes in. The pockets in the booklet allow us maximum flexibility in terms of adding/subtracting materials on the fly depending on whom we are going to meet with. There are other types of folders that may allow us the same flexibility and with the creative use of index tabs we may be able to create a better product for next year’s briefings. As much as we love the front and back covers of the briefing book, we have now used the same one for five consecutive years. We need to demonstrate that we as a Program have moved on in those five years – we have made enormous strides – and accordingly update our briefing document. Of course, this is much easier to write about than it is to actually do, but we urge the Management Committee and the Information and Education Committee to devote the attention and resources needed to reformat, simplify and, while building on the successful product we have been using, redirect our briefing document. This effort should get underway no later than early summer so that we are not pressed for time when we need to be getting it off to the printer.

Finally, as discussed over dinner while on the trip: Remember that in the District the answer is either yes or no; stop when you are winning; never ever interrupt those with whom you are meeting; whatever you state, state it in the positive; never say anything bad about anyone else; stay on track and on point; and protect your credibility. Overall, we done GOOD.

Remaining Assignments:

1. Debbie Felker: Add Mike Hickey and Eric Hansen at the Office of Management and Budget to the distribution list for the Program Director’s Update document and send same to them by e-mail.

2. John Shields/Tom Pitts/et al.: Provide a one page document regarding Program funding to Bennett Raley that he can use in dialogue with Lynn Scarlett and Craig Manson.
3. Sherm Hoskins/Robert King: Gather and forward to the Recovery Program Director and Management Committee Chairman any copies of letters that were copied to UT DWR Director Bob Morgan in response to his letter of February 24th to the directors of the departments of natural resources and game and fish agencies in the eight-state region encompassed by USFWS Region 6.

4. Draft an appropriate letter addressed to the Secretary of the Interior to be circulated among our Congressional Delegation members reminding the Secretary of her commitment to the Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program through the end of fiscal year 2013 as embodied in the Extension of the Cooperative Agreement and requesting the requisite “recovery” funding for USFWS participation in the Program be included in the President’s Fiscal Year 2006 budget. The letter should be drafted in the very near future and we should initiate our requests to sign the letter to each Congressional office representing Colorado, Utah and Wyoming. A cover letter should also be prepared that establishes the need for the joint letter, its anticipated effect and the benefits to each office of sending same (chiefly, that we won’t be seeking their support for restoring funding (read “write-in”) to a prior fiscal year’s level).

Appended Materials:

The joint House delegation and Senate delegation letters, as circulated in response to our group’s request, are attached.

The letter sent by House Resources Committee Ranking Member Nick Rahall to House Interior Approps. Subcommittee Chairman Taylor on March 2nd, obtained by our group on March 12th, is attached.

One of each of the letters sent by the four Governors is attached. Each Governor sent at least four letters to the appropriations subcommittees.

A spontaneous photograph from the Congressional Staff Appreciation luncheon is attached.

Dear Chairman Hobson and Ranking Member Visclosky:

We are writing to request your support for an appropriation in fiscal year 2005 of $5,234,000 to the Bureau of Reclamation within the budget line item entitled “Endangered Species Recovery Implementation Program” for the Upper Colorado Region. The President’s recommended budget for FY 2005 includes this line-item amount. Of that amount, the sum of $4,008,000 for the Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program (Upper Basin Program); $691,000 for the San Juan River Basin Recovery Implementation Program (San Juan Program) and $535,000 for Fish and Wildlife Management and Development.

These cooperative programs involving the States of Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming, Indian tribes, federal agencies and water, power and environmental interests are ongoing in the Upper Colorado River and San Juan River Basins and have as their objective recovering endangered fish species while water development proceeds in compliance with the Endangered Species Act, state water law and interstate river compacts.

Reclamation initiatives that will move forward with the provision of this funding and the substantial non-federal cost sharing being contributed will include construction of fish passage structures at the Grand Valley Project and Price-Stubb diversion dams on the Colorado River near Grand Junction, Colorado. Fish passage will provide access to an additional 50 miles of historic habitat upstream of these dams. Floodplain restoration activities will continue at high-priority sites and is especially important for the survival of the razorback sucker species. Screening of existing diversion canals will proceed at the Redlands Water and Power Company and Bureau of Reclamation-constructed Grand Valley Project facilities and are needed to prevent endangered fish from being drawn out of the river and into canal and power plant intake structures. The requested funding for the San Juan River Recovery Program will be used for program management, propagation facilities, stocking efforts, nonnative management efforts and construction of a fish screen in the Hogback Irrigation Project canal. These projects are key components of the ongoing capital construction efforts associated with these two programs.
Substantial non-federal cost sharing funds are provided by the four states, power users, and water users in support of these recovery programs. Public Law 106-392, as amended by P.L. 107-375, authorized the Federal Government to provide up to $46 Million of cost sharing for these two ongoing recovery programs’ remaining capital construction projects. The four participating states are contributing $17 Million and $17 Million is being contributed from revenues derived from the sale of Colorado River Storage Project (CRSP) hydroelectric power. Additional hatchery facilities to produce endangered fish for stocking, restoring floodplain habitat and fish passage, regulating and supplying instream habitat flows, installing diversion canal screens to prevent fish entrapment and controlling nonnative fish populations are key components of the capital construction efforts. These facts demonstrate the strong commitment and effective partnerships that are present in both of these successful programs.

The undersigned continue to believe that this Subcommittee’s assistance in the past has similarly been a major factor in the success of these multi-state, multi-agency programs in progressing towards recovery of the endangered fish in the Upper Colorado and San Juan River Basin while necessary water use and development activities are occurring. The help of the Subcommittee is needed again this year to ensure that Reclamation is provided with adequate funding for these vitally important programs. We are thankful for your past support and look forward to continuing to work with you in the future.

Dear Chairman Taylor and Ranking Member Dicks:

We are writing to request your support and assistance in continued funding for the Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program and the San Juan River Basin Recovery Implementation Program. These cooperative programs involving the States of Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming, Indian tribes, federal agencies and water, power and environmental interests are ongoing in the Upper Colorado River Basin and have as their objective recovering four species of endangered fish while water development proceeds in compliance with the Endangered Species Act, state law, and interstate compacts. We respectfully request support and action by the Subcommittee that will provide the following:

1. The appropriation of $691,000 in “recovery” funds (Ecological Services Activity; Endangered Species Subactivity; Recovery Element; Colorado Fish Project) to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) for fiscal year 2005 to allow FWS’ Region 6 to meet its funding commitment to the Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program. This is the level of funding appropriated in fiscal years 2003 and 2004 for this program. Funding will be used for FWS’ program and data management costs, estimating the abundance of fish populations, evaluating stocking and monitoring fish and habitat response to recovery actions.

2. The allocation of $444,000 in appropriated base operation and maintenance funds (“Fisheries Activity; Hatchery O&M Subactivity”) to support the current operation of the FWS’ Ouray National Fish Hatchery in Utah for fiscal year 2005.

3. The allocation of $167,000 in “recovery” funds for the San Juan River Basin Recovery Implementation Program to the FWS for fiscal year 2005 to meet FWS’ Region 2 expenses associated with program management and implementing the San Juan Program's actions.

The enactment of Public Law 106-392, as amended by P.L. 107-375, authorized the Federal Government to provide up to $46 Million of cost sharing for these two ongoing recovery programs' remaining capital construction projects. Additional hatchery facilities to produce endangered fish for stocking, restoring floodplain habitat and fish passage, regulating and supplying instream habitat flows, installing diversion canal screens to prevent fish entrapment and controlling nonnative fish populations are key components of the capital construction efforts. The four participating states are contributing $17 Million and $17 Million is being contributed from revenues derived from the sale of Colorado River Storage Project (CRSP) hydroelectric power. Subsection 3(c) of P.L. 106-392 authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to accept up to $17 Million of contributed funds from Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and New Mexico, and to expend such contributed funds as if appropriated for that purpose. These facts demonstrate the strong commitment and effective partnerships that are present in both of these successful programs.

The undersigned continue to believe that this Subcommittee's assistance in the past has similarly been a major factor in the success of these multi-state, multi-agency programs in progressing towards recovery of the endangered fish in the Upper Colorado and San Juan River Basin while necessary water use and development activities are occurring. The help of the Subcommittee is critically needed and necessary to ensure the FWS is provided with adequate funding for these vitally important programs. We request that report language be included in the Subcommittee's report directing the FWS to expend the funds as requested above.

We are thankful for your past support and look forward to working with you in the future.

Dear Mr. Chairman and Senator Reid:

We are writing to request your support for an appropriation in fiscal year 2005 of $5,234,000 to the Bureau of Reclamation (BOR) within the budget line item entitled “Endangered Species Recovery Implementation Program” for the Upper Colorado Region. The President’s recommended budget for FY 2005 includes this line-item amount. March 2, 2004

Dear Chairman Domenici and Senator Reid:

The State of Colorado seeks your support once again this year for the funding necessary to continue the very successful endangered species recovery effort being carried out in the Upper Colorado River Basin. In particular, I request your support for an appropriation of $5,234,000 to the Bureau of Reclamation for the budget item entitled “Endangered Species Recovery Implementation Program” for the Upper Colorado River Basin as recommended by the President’s budget for fiscal year 2005. This particular item is divided as follows: $4,008,000 for the Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program; $691,000 for the San Juan River Basin Recovery Implementation Program and $535,000 for Fish and Wildlife Management and Development.

These recovery programs work through the strong partnership established between the States of Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming, Indian tribes, water and power developers, environmental interests and federal agencies. They are charged with the mission of recovering endangered fish while allowing ongoing water development, all in compliance with the Endangered Species Act. Endangered fish recovery efforts have been able to proceed while municipal and agricultural water users have put to beneficial use 1.7 million acre-feet of water constituting 756 projects. These projects have relied on the Recovery Programs as regulatory compliance for the Endangered Species Act, and all of this activity has been accomplished without a single lawsuit.
The Honorable Pete V. Domenici, Chairman
March 2, 2004

This year, as in years past, this appropriation to the Bureau of Reclamation has funded various capital projects dedicated to the fish recovery effort, including fish passages, screening for diversion canals, and construction of hatchery facilities. The FY 2005 appropriation will allow construction of fish passage structures on the Colorado River near Grand Junction, Colorado, to provide access to 50 miles of historic habitat for the endangered fishes. Additionally, the appropriation will fund diversion canal screening to prevent endangered fish from being drawn out of the river and into canal and power plant intake structures at the Redlands Water and Power Company and Bureau of Reclamation-constructed facilities for the Grand Valley Project. The San Juan Program will dedicate funding to program management, propagation facilities, native fish stocking, nonnative fish management and fish screen construction.

In addition to the contributions to the fish recovery effort by the Federal Government, the four states, power users and water users have joined together to contribute non-federal cost-sharing funds to assure success of the Recovery Program. Public Law 106-392, as amended by P.L. 107-375, authorizes the Federal Government to provide up to $46 million of cost share funds for the capital construction projects for both the Upper Colorado and the San Juan Programs. The four participating states contribute $17 million and the Colorado River Storage Project (CRSP) contributes $17 million in hydroelectric power revenues.

Please accept my thanks to you and to your Subcommittee for your support of these Programs in the past. On behalf of the citizens of Colorado, I ask for your continued support for funding of the Bureau of Reclamation so that these partners can work toward the ultimate goal of recovering and delisting these endangered fish species.

Sincerely,

Dear Chairman Hobson and Representative Visclosky:

I write to request your support for an appropriation in fiscal year 2005 of $5,234,000 to the Bureau of Reclamation within the budget line item entitled “Endangered Species Recovery Implementation Program” for the Upper Colorado River Region. The President’s recommended budget for FY 2005 includes this line-item amount. Utah respectfully requests the designation of $4,008,000 for the Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program, $691,000 for the San Juan River Basin Recovery Implementation Program and $535,000 for Fish and Wildlife Management and Development, the total of these summing to the requested appropriation amount of $5,234,000 for fiscal year 2005.

These highly successful cooperative programs are ongoing partnerships among the states of Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming, Indian tribes, federal agencies and water, power and environmental interests. The programs’ objectives are to recover endangered fish species while water development proceeds in compliance with the Endangered Species Act of 1973. They reflect the proper approach to providing endangered species conservation and recovery within the framework of the existing federal Endangered Species Act, while concurrently resolving critical conflicts between endangered species recovery and the development and use of Compact-apportioned water resources in the Upper Colorado River Basin region of the Intermountain West.

The requested FY 2005 appropriation will allow construction of fish passage structures at the Grand Valley Project and Price-Stebb diversion dams on the Colorado River near Grand Junction, Colorado. Fish passage will provide access to an additional 50 miles of historic habitat upstream of these dams. Floodplain restoration activities, including levee removal, will continue at high-priority sites and is especially important for the survival of the razorback sucker species. Screening of existing diversion canals, needed to prevent endangered fish from being drawn out of the river and into canal and power plant intake structures, will proceed at the Redlands Water... and Power Company and Bureau of Reclamation-constructed Grand Valley Project facilities. The requested funding for the San Juan River Recovery Program will be used for program management, propagation facilities, stocking efforts, nonnative management efforts and construction of a fish screen in the Hogback Irrigation Project canal. Additional hatchery facilities to produce endangered fish for stocking, restoring floodplain habitat and fish passage, regulating and supplying instream habitat flows, installing diversion canal screens to prevent fish entrapment and controlling nonnative fish populations are key components of the capital construction efforts ongoing in both programs.

Substantial non-federal cost-sharing funds are provided by the four states, power users, and water users in support of these recovery programs. Public Law 106-392, as amended by PL 107-375, authorizes the Federal Government to provide up to $46 million of cost sharing for these two ongoing recovery programs’ remaining capital construction projects. The four participating states are contributing $17 million, and $17 million is being contributed from revenues derived from the sale of Colorado River Storage Project (CRSP) hydroelectric power. The past support and assistance of your Subcommittee has greatly facilitated the success of these multi-state, multi-agency programs. On behalf of the citizens of Utah, I gratefully thank you for that support and request the Subcommittee’s assistance for fiscal year 2005 funding to ensure the Bureau of Reclamation’s continuing financial participation in these vitally important programs.

Dear Chairman Taylor and Representative Dicks:

I am writing to request your support and assistance in insuring continued funding for the Recovery Implementation Program for Endangered Fish Species in the Upper Colorado River Basin (Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program) and the San Juan River Basin Recovery Implementation Program. These cooperative programs involving the States of Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming, Indian tribes, federal agencies and water, power and environmental interests are ongoing in the Upper Colorado River Basin and have as their objective recovering four species of endangered fish while water development proceeds in compliance with the Endangered Species Act of 1973, state law, and interstate compacts. Wyoming respectfully requests support and action by the Subcommittee that will provide the following:

1. The appropriation of $691,000 in “recovery” funds (Ecological Services Activity; Endangered Species Subactivity; Recovery Element; Colorado Fish Project) to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) for fiscal year 2005 to allow FWS’s Region 6 to meet its funding commitment to the Upper Colorado River Endangered Fish Recovery Program. This is the level of funding appropriated in fiscal years 2003 and 2004 for this program. Funding will be used for FWS’ program and data management costs, estimating the abundance of fish populations, evaluating stocking and monitoring fish and habitat response to recovery actions.

2. The allocation of $444,000 in appropriated base operation and maintenance funds (“Fisheries Activity; Hatchery O&M Subactivity”) to support the current operation of the FWS’ Ouray National Fish Hatchery in Utah for fiscal year 2005.

3. The allocation of $167,000 in “recovery” funds for the San Juan River Basin Recovery Implementation Program to the FWS for fiscal year 2005 to meet FWS’s Region 2 expenses associated with program management and implementing the San Juan Program’s actions.
The Honorable Charles H. Taylor, Chairman
The Honorable Norman D. Dicks, Ranking Minority Member

The enactment of Public Law 106-392, as amended by P.L. 107-375, authorized the Federal Government to provide up to $46 Million of cost sharing for these two ongoing recovery programs’ remaining capital construction projects. Additional hatchery facilities, restoring floodplain habitat and fish passage, regulating and supplying instream habitat flows, installing diversion canal screens and controlling nonnative fish populations are key components of the capital construction efforts. The four participating states are contributing $17 Million and $17 Million is being contributed from revenues derived from the sale of Colorado River Storage Project (CRSP) hydroelectric power. Subsection 3(c) of P.L 106-392 authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to accept up to $17 Million of contributed funds from Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and New Mexico, and to expend such contributed funds as if appropriated for that purpose. These facts demonstrate the strong commitment and effective partnerships that are present in both of these successful programs.

The above line item funding requests for the FWS are supported by the State of Wyoming and each of the participating States engaged in these Programs. The requested federal appropriations are critically important and will be used in concert with other federal and non-federal cost-sharing funding. The support of your Subcommittee in past years is acknowledged and appreciated and has been a major factor in the success of these multi-state, multi-agency programs in progressing towards endangered fish species recovery in the Upper Colorado and San Juan River Basins while necessary water use and development activities are occurring. We again request the Subcommittee’s assistance to ensure that the FWS is provided with adequate funding for these vitally important programs.

Best regards,
